SATURDAY, MAY 25 1901

GIVE THE PRESIDENT A KIND RECEPTION.

It is known that the President will pass last over the Cental Pacific. It was not so arranged in the original program as it was understood in Nevada. Mrs. McKinley's health, as is well known being such that a change became necessary to accommodate her weak condition. It will be arranged in a way which will give the President an opportunity to say a few words at Reno to the people, which should be appreciated.

It is a duty which the people owe to the chief magistrate of the nation and to themselves to give the President a hearty welcome during the minutes the train is at rest in this town. Politics should not have anything to do with the reception of the head of the Republic by the people. William McKinley is President of the United States and as such officer he belongs to the people and does not belong exclusively to the Republican party.

A mutual avowal and respect for mutual rights constitutes the very essence of free government. The principle is not always recognized, but that has nothing to do with its truth or its presence in a Republic founded upon principles included in mutual rights. When rights, which are extended to others, are denied to any part of the people there is a departure from recognized principles which sustain free institutions that it would be better to omit.

A general manifestation of respect for the President is demanded upon every principle known to be a part of free government. The narrow ideals and feelings of the partisan should disappear while the more exalted and for this reason more general principles included in a broad Americanism should make an appearance in a reception extended to the President of the United States.
Do not give opportunity to have it said that Nevada is less patriotic or less American because it is a silver State whose hills are full of the white metal.

A SEEMING PARADOX.

The sentence, "Happy is the nation who has no history," has been often ridiculed not without cause, as it is impossible for a nation to be without a history. Each day brings forward some change to make history for a people who have taken a national character.

There is no such thing as a state of nothingness. Were such a state possible it would constitute a subject to be recorded including opposition to all animate things. There is a meaning to the sentence that does not appear in the language as used. There is reading between the lines that does not appear on the face of, "Happy is the nation who has no history."

The subject in view is to teach the necessity there is for domestic peace to a people who desire success in their national affairs. Contentment has been the chief business of nations from the beginning, which has ever been disastrous to nations who engaged in contentment.

History is largely made up of accounts or recitals given of the wars of nations and of the personal history of those who were leading spirits in the wars. The domestic life of the people who made up the nations at war is seldom or never mentioned by the historian, which has its explanation in the fact that very little was said by those who recorded events about the domestic life or domestic relations of the people.

It may be truthfully said that the wars of nations and the doings of kings, under whose reigns wars were conducted, furnish the items in chief from which history is composed. Generals who conducted wars for nations and for kings occupy a large space in literature to which the term history is applied. The cause for the preeminence of generals is plain, as it would be impossible to make a coherent statement of facts or of results of the

NEVER IMITATED QUALITY.

AN EXCELLENT COMBINATION.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectively, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the company printed on the front of every package.

WARS WITHOUT THEIR AID.

There is not anything said about wars and woes connected with wars or about the general misery that came to the people who sustained the nations and kings who made the wars. If the unhappiness caused by nations and kings to the people through war had been recorded the world would not have contained the books written to describe and record it. The world has not been troubled to any degree with such records and it may be that it will not be troubled in the future with such books, as they do not contain any part of the national glory connected with war, which means, when removed from the clamor that covers it, very little more than brute force exaggerated.

When a reflecting mind had taken in review the real outlines of history as it is there should not be any criticism of the sentence, "Happy is the nation who has no history."

ANNUAL DEBATE

The Universities of Nevada and Utah Will Contest This Evening.

The second inter-collegiate debate between the University of Utah and the University of Nevada took place in the gymnasium last evening before a fair sized audience.

The question—"Resolved, That the promotion of industries by subsidy, bonus or bounty is bad public policy in the United States," was well handled by the speakers. Nevada taking the negative side of the question and Utah, the affirmative.

R. L. Fulton, president of the evening, opened the ceremonies with a short address. He was then immediately followed by Mark Brown of Utah, who spoke with the ease and grace of an orator, handling his subject well. After Mr. Brown came Geo. Springmeyer of Nevada. Mr. Springmeyer answered Mr. Brown, and showed that he thoroughly understood his subject.

LeRoy Sanders of Utah followed with an excellent argument, Irwin Ayres next occupied the rostrum, and showed Utah what Nevada could do when taxed to its utmost in the line of debates. Mr. Ayres grasped his subject firmly, and talked well. After Mr. Ayres, Arthur Willing of Utah spoke. The latter charmed the audience with his oratory, and caused no little amusement by his sarcastic remarks concerning some of the statements made by his predecessors from Nevada.

The last speaker was Fenton Bonham of Reno, who reviewed the arguments of the Utah men and, as we might say, "picked them to pieces." Mr. Bonham has a good delivery and excellent command of language.

The first speaker in rebuttal was Mr. Ayres followed by Mr. Willing, after which the judges, Hon. A. E. Cheney, Hon. Trenmore Coffin, and Hon. F. M. Huffaker, retired, to make their decision.

During the intermission, a short musical program was rendered by the Cadet Band, together with a couple of cornet solos by Mr. Tobin.

Dr. Stubbs made a few announcements, and chairman Huffaker stated that the decision that Nevada had out pointed its rival.

PROBABLE DELAY.

It was stated last night that the President's train would not reach Reno tonight until 10.30 p. m. This further delay is evidently caused by the resolve to travel by way of Stockton. Surely California has had its share of the Presidential presence and Nevada is evidently being neglected by those who are making the schedule.
